

OPERATION AVOIDED

EXPERIENCE OF MISS MERKLEY

She Was Told That an Operation Was Inevitable. How She Escaped It

When a physician tells a woman suffering with ovarian or womb trouble that an operation is necessary, the very thought of the knife and the operating table strikes terror to her heart, and our hospitals are full of women coming for ovarian or womb operations.

Miss Margaret Merkley

There are cases where an operation is the only resource, but when one considers the great number of cases of ovarian and womb trouble cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after physicians have advised operations, no woman should submit to one without first trying the Vegetable Compound and writing Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice, which is free.

Miss Margaret Merkley of 275 Third Street, Milwaukee, Wis., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham—“Loss of strength, shooting pains through the pelvic organs, bearing down pains and cramps compelled me to seek medical advice. The doctor, after making an examination, said I had ovarian trouble and ulceration and advised an operation. To this I strongly objected and decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The ulceration quickly healed, all the bad symptoms disappeared and I am once more strong, vigorous and well.”

Ovarian and womb troubles are steadily on the increase among women. If the monthly periods are very painful, or too frequent and excessive—if you have pain or swelling low down in the left side, bearing down pains, leucorrhoea, don't neglect yourself: try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

According to advices received from Washington President Roosevelt has acceded to the request of naval officers and the new training ship for the Naval Academy at Annapolis will bear the name of Severn instead of that originally intended, the Chesapeake. It has been officially decided that that name has been disgraced in the service and henceforth no American war vessel will bear it. The frigate Chesapeake was one of the first vessels in our navy and figured in an incident that was one of the events that precipitated the War of 1812. The Chesapeake was stopped off Boston Harbor by the British frigate Leopard and several seamen were taken off her, the English captain claiming that they were British subjects. The Chesapeake struck her colors and made little resistance. Again, later in the war, when commanded by the immortal Lawrence, she fought the British frigate Shannon. Lawrence was mortally wounded and died during the battle, gasping with his last breath, "Don't give up the ship!" In spite of the dying injunction of her commander the Chesapeake was soon after surrendered and was towed into Halifax by the Shannon. Later she was in the British navy and finally was broken up. A mill in England is constructed of her timbers, one slab from the deck where her commander fell being inscribed with his last words. The gallant Lawrence has had a fine destroyer named in his honor, but the name of his twice-sundered flagship has been effaced from the official memory of the American navy.

WERE ALL QUARANTINED.

A Manila paper brings the news that the passengers on the U. S. A. T. Sherman, which put back into this port a month ago with a small-pox case, were put through rigid quarantine in Manila. It says:

There is weeping, wailing and gnashing of teeth among the passengers who arrived on the transport Sherman, who are not assigned to stations. This includes a number of civilians, several members of the families of officers stationed here and a number of officers who are unassigned to any station. All are compelled to remain in quarantine at Mariveles, for two weeks from the date of the Sherman's arrival on account of the two cases of small-pox which occurred in the steward's department on the transport during her trip from San Francisco. After a quick and pleasant trip across the Pacific, they remain fourteen, weary, soured, blistering days at the quarantine station, with Manila but a couple of short hours away—"so near and yet so far."

The Sherman arrived in Manila from quarantine late Sunday afternoon when the troops assigned to stations were disembarked to proceed immediately to their respective posts. There they will be kept in quarantine until the required fourteen days have elapsed.

The headquarters of the 9th, will be in Manila.

TRANSPORT DIDN'T ARRIVE.

The transport Sherman which was expected yesterday from Manila via Nagasaki did not arrive. Without much doubt she will come this morning. Today should be a busy day on the waterfront. The Doric is due to arrive this morning from San Francisco with two days' mail and it is probable that the transport Logan will also get in from the coast metropolis. She is expected this afternoon, but as she has just been in dry dock it is possible that she may arrive this morning. The Sherman is bringing the Fourth Infantry from the Philippines. The Logan will have a full load of troops, though it is not known what regiment is on her. The Sherman will be held long enough for the transfer of Camp McKinley from the present artillery regiments to the battalion of the Tenth Infantry due on the Logan. As soon as the post has been transferred the 28th and 92nd companies of Coast Artillery will embark on the Sherman and proceed to the coast. The battalion of the Tenth that is coming here is commanded by Major Van Vleet. The Sherman will leave some coal here, although how much is not known.

DOLLAR STILL HERE.

The steamship Stanley Dollar is still in the stream and there seems to be slight prospect of her getting away. Collector Stackable still refuses to grant the vessel clearance on the ground that she has not complied with the regulations. These regulations require that passenger vessels be inspected by an inspector of hulls and boilers. From this it appears that the statement that Washington had ordered the collector to issue a license was incorrect. Bonds have been put up by Captain Bruce for the four libel suits so far filed, but there are many more suits pending. These seem to have been held back pending developments in the license case. There is a possibility that the steamship company may begin mandamus proceedings against the collector to force him to issue a license. Mr. Stanley Dollar is of the opinion that the ship has fulfilled the requirements and that he is entitled to an inspection and certificate. "It's up to the government," he says, while Collector Stackable answers, "It's up to you."

CHANGE ON THE DORIC.

David Blair, second officer of the Occidental and Oriental liner Doric and relative of one of England's noted Admirals, left the ship at San Francisco, and returned to Liverpool, probably to be assigned to some White Star liner on the Atlantic. Blair has a wide acquaintance here and in other Pacific ports, and is very well liked. He is to be succeeded on the Doric by Harry R. Howe, formerly of the Gaelic and more recently of the big liner Arabic, plying between Liverpool and Boston. "Lord" Howe is called by his intimates, and like all other White Star officers sent out here, he combines seamanship with other qualities calculated to make him a popular officer.

NEW DREDGER AT WORK.

The new dredger Governor, built by Lord & Belser for the dredging of the new Alakea street slips, began work yesterday afternoon. There was a large crowd at the site of the slips to see the gigantic machine, the largest west of the Mississippi, at work. Several of the piles of the old Pacific Mail pier were removed yesterday afternoon, some of the chains being snapped, so well were the piles set and so powerful was the pull of the big crane. The enormous scoops take up wagonfuls of earth at a single operation. Today the dredge will probably be in full operation and train service on the Alakea, Kakaako & Eastern Railroad will begin.

BUDFORD WAS DAMAGED.

The Manila Times says: It will cost the government $31,000 to repair the damage sustained by the transport Buford by her grounding about three weeks ago on an uncharted reef off the Mindanao coast. This is the estimate received by Colonel Clem yesterday from Hongkong, where the vessel is now in dry dock. The report stated that 35 of the Buford's plates were injured and that 39 of her frames were fractured. No estimate was given as to the length of time which will be required to complete the necessary repairs, but it is thought that it will be not less than two weeks.

BEIG TANNER DISAPPEARS

A Port Townsend dispatch of June 25 says: The brig Tanner, which was picked up derelict and towed here in a sinking condition yesterday, disappeared last night, and the whereabouts of the vessel and the tug which brought her are unknown here. The crew which abandoned the Tanner and then attempted to return to her is also missing. It is believed here that the Tanner has been spirited away until complications regarding the ownership, insurance and salvage claims have been straightened out.

LOGAN OVERCROWDED.

Owing to the overcrowding of the passenger list of the transport Logan for the next sailing, June 30th, it has been found necessary to convert all the old second-class quarters into first-class cabins. The second cabin passengers will be accommodated during this voyage in hatch No. 5, where suitable quarters are now being fitted up. There will be room there for about twenty persons.—Chronicle, June 29.

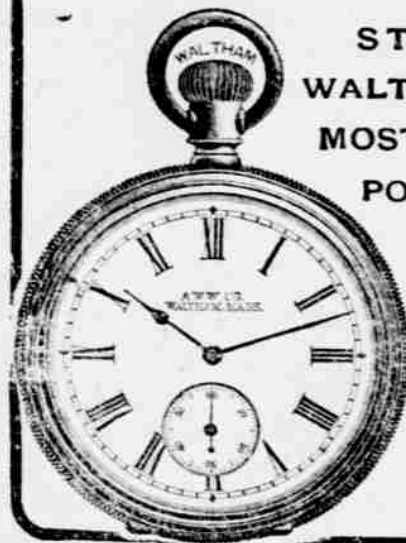

IN GALE OFF PORT.

The bark Emily F. Whitney, Captain Goodman, arrived yesterday with a cargo of 32,000 bags of sugar, 29 days from Makaweli, was in strong north and northeast winds off port, but came in through the Golden Gate undamaged. Most of the vessels from the islands have of late been making slow trips on account of strong winds off this coast.—Chronicle, June 26.

SHIPPING NOTES.

The steamer Mikahala sailed for Kaula ports last night.
The steamer Helene got away for Hawaii ports last evening.
The Nebraska will probably get away today for Kahului.
The bark Charming has gone over to the Railroad wharf to load sugar.
Excavation work for the new Brewer wharf near the foot of Nuuanu street has begun.
The ship Arthur Sewall will probably sail for the Breakwater today. She has a full load of sugar.
The American ship Marion Chilcott arrived from Monterey late yesterday afternoon with a full load of fuel oil.
The steamer Maui makes the first trip on the new Maui schedule tonight, sailing from the Irmgard wharf at 5 p. m.
The steamer J. A. Cummins brought a full load of sugar in from Waimanalo and Koolau ports yesterday afternoon.
The schooner Matthew Turner shifted in from the stream to a berth at one of the wharves at the foot of Fort street yesterday. She will discharge her coal there.
The sea outside is very rough, great breakers dashing high over Mowea reef. So heavy were the swells that they came over the reef and caused the ship John Currier, lying in the Row, to roll very perceptibly.
